Cathy is a Member and Co-Director in Brown Smith Wallace's Tax Services group. She has many years experience evidenced by her expertise and commitment as a tax advisor. Her experience spans the industries of advertising, distribution, contractors, food service, health care, real estate and wholesale, among others. She authors tax updates and frequently speaks to various audiences on tax topics.

Prior to her arrival at Brown Smith Wallace, Goldsticker served as Principal at Stone Carlie & Company, LLC. In her role she provided diverse tax services including tax planning and consulting services, as well as supervised work assignments and staff development.

Goldsticker earned a Bachelor of Business Administration in Accounting from the University of Wisconsin and a Masters of Science in Taxation from Fontbonne University, graduating with honors. She is a member of both the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and the Missouri Society of Public Accountants. She is a recent recipient of the MSCPA 2007 CPA Women-to-Watch award and is an adjunct professor at Fontbonne University teaching Real Estate Taxation in the Masters of Science in Taxation program.

In addition to the teaching, Cathy's past and present professional activities include past Treasurer to the Clayton High School Football Boosters, the Referral Network of BNI International, and Congregation Temple Israel. Currently she is Chair of Congregation Temple Israel Investment committee and a board member, participant in Missouri Society of CPA program committee, and committee members for several charities.
